

Trillo launch a new website!

Did you notice our new website? Finally we got it!

We have made a complete redesign of our website: find new content and new images from our school, our courses and concerts. We hope that this new design will like you, but mostly will help you to find all the information you're searching for!

The website has been designed and developed by Web Marketing Team, a web agency specialised in Search Engine Optimisation, web design and expert about the use and the configuration of the CMS Joomla, that used for our new website. What about the hosting? Sentia Server Housing is the Italian Internet Company that host our Joomla website, and we're very happy with their services.

Please browse the website, navigate through our new pages, discover our music courses, read about our College of Music in Florence... and don't forget to tell us what are you thinking about our new website, we will appreciate it!

And if you are searching for more information about our Italian Music Schools and Courses, please do not hesitate to contact us !
